

Bright Minds, Bright Future.

To get some ideas for summer reading titles, look below at the suggested list. You may borrow these books from local libraries or purchase them from retail stores. The list of books was created to provide you with the type of stories that you might find appealing. A wide variety of reading levels was considered. However, you are welcome to read books other than those listed below. It is suggested that you read 3-5 books. Don't forget to read non-fiction books, too! Summer is a great time to read about astronomy, plants, animals, sports, jokes, crafts, biographies and history. Some suggestions are:
